Middle School Expectations

Chromebook Expectations

- The Chromebook is an expensive educational tool provided to you by the generous tax-payers of this district for the sole purpose of deepening your education. They are not to be used for gaming or other forms of entertainment.
- Unauthorized, off-task, or careless use of the Chromebook will result in the confiscation of the Chromebook either for the remainder of the hour or 24 hours, depending on the severity of the misuse or past history of misuse.
- The Chromebook is to remain in its case AT ALL TIMES. This is a mandatory expectation for all middle school students. You will be assigned a lunch detention if the Chromebook is not in its case. The cases should be treated like a textbook and kept in good condition.
- If you finish work in one class early (and with quality effort), you may be able to use your Chromebook to work on an assignment for another class. Please ASK for permission first.
- You have a unique opportunity to learn in a way students in other districts do not. Show great care for your device, and use them to their (and your) fullest potential!

Cell Phones

- Cell phones, iPods, etc. should be turned off and stored in student lockers during school hours. This includes lunch.
- If a parent needs to contact a student, please call the office, and a message will be delivered. Students are allowed to use the school phone to contact parents, if needed.

When you are absent/Make Up Work

- All middle school teachers use an online learning management system (Google Classroom, Weebly or Schoology). Students are expected to check each teacher's site when absent. ALWAYS, the agenda for the day is outlined. Often times, assignments you missed will be posted as well. Make sure you also check in with the teacher to see if you missed anything that was not online or if you need clarification.
- You will be given the number of days you were absent to turn in missing assignments.
- If you need to make up a test, you are expected to do so before/after school or during lunch.

Late Work

- Many teachers offer 2-3 late work passes per semester. Students must complete the missing assignment and turn it in with a pass in order to earn credit. Late work submitted without a pass will count as a 0. Check with individual teachers regarding their late pass policy.
- Late work is due one week before the end of the marking period. Work submitted after the final deadline will count as a 0.

Grading

- Most school work will be graded within 7 days.
- Projects and papers often require more time for grading.

Hall Passes

- Hall passes should be kept to a minimum. These passes will be taken from your hall pass card.
- You cannot use another student's hall pass card in place of your own.

Tardies

- You will be marked tardy if you are not in the classroom when the bell rings.
- You may be given a tardy if you have used all of your hall passes and need to use the bathroom or retrieve something from your locker.

TALKING

- Do not talk when the teacher or a fellow student is talking. This is the time to listen.
- Talking (quietly) is appropriate when you are working with a partner or small group.
- You are to be quiet when instructed to work quietly or during tests/quizzes.
- Listen attentively during announcements (aka "morgue quiet").

PLANNER

- Planners will be graded at the discretion of each subject area teacher for a nominal participation grade.
- Planner use will be essential in courses that tend to have frequent homework, such as math.
- Students will be encouraged to use their planner to keep track of assignment and project deadlines as well as upcoming quizzes and tests.

ESPECIALLY FOR PARENTS

- Be an active participant in your child's education. If you would like to be added to Google Classroom and Schoology, please provide your email below. Each teacher's learning management system offers daily insight into what your child is doing in school. This is especially important for students as they transition to middle school or for students who struggle.
